

WooHoo! The PolitiChicks are coming!
LUNCHEON ~ THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 2017

Ann-Marie Murrell & Morgan Brittany
A Clarion Call to Political Activism

The PolitiChicks believe conservative women—with their maternal instincts and warrior spirit—can change the world! In 2010, Ann-Marie Murrell helped create “PolitiChicks” as a WebTV series. Today, Ann-Marie and actress Morgan Brittany own the very popular Web site which serves as a major platform for both women and men writers across the U.S. The ladies are regular political commentators on television and radio and they have hundreds of thousands of followers throughout social media.

Ann-Marie is a fifth-generation Texan who left home in her early 20s to pursue an acting career in Los Angeles. In 2014 she was a panelist with Kellyanne Conway at the National Security Summit in D.C. Ann-Marie will appear as a political reporter in the upcoming movie, GOSNELL.

Morgan Brittany has been a film, stage, and television star since the age of five when she appeared in two Alfred Hitchcock films, The Birds and Marnie. She played Baby June in Gypsy, starring Natalie Wood and Rosalind Russell, and was one of Henry Fonda’s daughters in Yours, Mine, and Ours (also starring Lucille Ball). Morgan was Opie Taylor’s first girlfriend on the “Andy Griffith Show,” and later she gained worldwide fame as Katherine Wentworth on CBS’s “Dallas.”

The speakers will have their new book, PolitiChicks: A Clarion Call to Political Activism, for sale at the luncheon.

Mike Huckabee: “...I found the PolitiChicks were a group of brilliant and opinionated professionals who are stirring up a storm of activism for conservative ideas. They come armed with wit, depth, and perspective. Politchicks.com has inspired many to stand up and speak up.”

Nick Searcy: “...Be inspired, as I have been, by their courage, their intelligence and their humor, and use your voice!”

Dr. Jamie Glazov: “The PolitiChicks provide not only an urgent wake-up call, but also the crucial vehicles to Americans to speak up and fight for their civilization. An ambitious, commendable and heroic achievement.”
